

JENNA BYRNES
Senior Vice President
Oklahoma City Dodgers

Jenna Byrnes joined the Oklahoma City Dodgers team as the Senior Vice President in September 2010. Jenna currently leads the organization's revenue generating efforts with an emphasis in Ticket Sales, Marketing and Special Events. Additionally, Jenna focuses on designing and implementing business strategies, plans and procedures. In her time with the Dodgers, the team has increased attendance by 21% and maximized opportunities for non-baseball programming at the ballpark for businesses, nonprofits and members of the community.

In addition to her revenue responsibilities, Jenna focuses on leadership and professional development for the 50 full-time members of the organization with a focus on internal communication and company culture. She serves as a resource for other industry executives and was recognized as the 2013 and 2015 Pacific Coast League Female Executive of the Year. Jenna also teaches as an adjunct professor at Oklahoma Christian University. In 2016, Jenna was included in the okc.biz Forty Under 40 class. Jenna also contributed her perspective on "Finding Your Baseball Why" to The GMs Handbook, published in 2018 which hit #1 in 11 of Amazon's book categories.

Before arriving in Oklahoma, Jenna was the Senior Director of Ticket Sales for the Frisco RoughRiders (AA-Texas Rangers). Under her leadership, the team grew consistently in sales and led all of Double-A Baseball in attendance during each of her seven seasons.

Byrnes supports the OKC community through her participation in Leadership Oklahoma City (Class 37), Leadership Oklahoma City LOYAL Program (Class IX) as well as her service on nonprofit boards including the OKC Dodgers Baseball Foundation, the Bricktown Board of Directors and the YWCA – Oklahoma City. She also serves on the Advisory Council for Strata Leadership's Institute for Emerging Leaders.

Jenna is originally from Somerset, Ohio and has made a home in Nichols Hills with her husband, Michael, and daughters, Peyton and Camden. In their spare time, they enjoy sharing their love of travel with their children, experiencing live music, and watching college football.

BROOKE ELLENBERGER
Vice President of Ticketing
Tennessee Titans

Brooke Ellenberger enters her seventh season with the Titans after joining the Titans in March of 2015. She spent 11 years with the Houston Astros, including her last three years in Houston as the Senior Director of Ticket Operations and Strategy. In her time with the Titans, Ellenberger has grown the team's ticket office and developed a plan to improve both engagement and customer service for the season ticket members. Under her leadership, the team also implemented digital ticketing, a variable pricing model, innovative ticket packages and a rewards program for season ticket members.

She originally joined the Astros in 2004 as the Ticket Systems Manager and worked her way up through the ticket office, holding various titles. Before working for the Astros, Ellenberger spent four years with the New Orleans Saints. She joined the organization as ticket sales representative and was the Box Office Manager at the time of her departure to the Astros.

A native of Rock Hill, S.C., Ellenberger graduated with a degree in Marketing from Clemson University.
